STRING BOOK

By John Brewer ©2018

A stringbook is a reporter's 'scrapbook' of clippings of published articles, pictures, opinions, notes and other items from his/her work in the media.

My Clyde-Green Springs Stringbook is more than clippings. It is 439 regular issues and special editions of The Clyde Enterprise commencing April 01, 1991 - which should have been a clue.

April 1991: My first two City Council meetings. By 3-2 vote Council suspended City Manager Nelson Summit on charges of theft. The same Council reinstated him after a Clyde Police Department investigation pointed out a misperception in using City funds to put tires on his vehicle.

My first special issue was the annual Progress Edition focusing on the preceding year in business, commerce, government.

The City and B&PA had completed an extensive Downtown Renovation under Summit's supervision. New streets and sidewalks, replica streetlights and a Downtown Plaza.

Clyde Light & Power, assisted by Whirlpool, brought cheaper power.

Police Chief Bruce A Gower designed and directed much of the remodeling of the Police Department. The Dispatch Center, named in his honor, remains inaccessible.
